

HAA Undergrad Bi-Weekly Update

Welcome

A reminder that the Fine Arts Library (FAL) Orientation is today, between 2 – 4 pm. This event is highly recommended to anyone who has not been to a previous orientation at FAL. They are an invaluable partner and resource for any concentrator in HAA. This is a drop-in event, so please stop by for as much or as little as you can.

Next Wednesday, we are hosting an informal get-together for prospective concentrators in the HAA Living Room, between 11:30 – 12:30. Even if you have already decided to declare in HAA, please stop by to chat with HAA faculty, staff and students. Food will be provided!

With the fifth Monday of term (October 10) rapidly approaching, please do not hesitate to reach out to any of the advising team if you have any outstanding questions or concerns about your course selection or progress within the concentration.

Alumni Update

Jessica Yin graduated in 2001 with a concentration in HAA, and now works as a senior architect at the architectural firm SCB. "I focused on Architectural History and Theory, with the intention to apply to graduate school for Architecture. Thanks in large part to the guidance of HAA's academic advisor at the time, I was able to chart out a course for fulfilling prerequisites for application (including coursework at the GSD), as well as meet with current architecture students and working design professionals to better understand the field and profession. This was before any formalized Architecture Studies program existed at the College. After graduation I immediately commenced my studies at the GSD. I graduated in 2006 (M.Arch I) and have been a practicing architect since, having worked in Boston, Shanghai, London, and San Francisco, and on large commercial, academic, civic, residential, and urban projects globally."
