sp 2024

For students of Harvard College, Architecture Studies is a track within the History of Art and Architecture (HAA) concentration, jointly administered by the HAA and the Graduate School of Design (GSD). The track is a first chance for undergraduates to tap into a selection of the GSD's offerings. Introducing architecture and design thinking into liberal arts studies, the track also enriches undergraduate education at Harvard.

The following listing serves as a guide for design course offerings offered at the Graduate School of Design in the upcoming academic year that may be used to fulfill Distributional Requirements in Area of Emphasis and whose content and assignments are well-suited to Harvard College students. <sup>**</sup>The GSD's courses are evaluated on a pass/fail scale by default. If you plan to use a GSD course towards the concentration, you must request an FAS letter grade from the instructor at the start of the term, as well as formally request this via a change of grading basis petition in my harvard. Failure to take these steps by the start of the fifth Monday of term will disallow you from counting the course towards concentration requirements. If you have taken, or plan to take, more than two non-FAS courses at the College, you will also need to submit a Concentration Credit Petition for Cross Registered
